RIGHT BREATHING CURES CATARRH

Simple Way to Kill Catarrhal Germs in Nose, Throat and Lungs.

If you cut your finger, you don't attempt to heal it by swallowing a pill or a dose of medicine.

It is just as foolish to try and cure catarrh of the nose and throat with salts and stomach dosing, for catarrh is a local disease, and needs special local healing treatment.

The only natural and common method known for the cure of catarrhal trouble is Hyo-mei. It is breathed through an ingenious pocket inhaler, so that its medicated air reaches the most remote air-cells of the nose, throat and lungs, killing all catarrhal germs soothng the irritated mucous membranes, and restoring a healthy condition.

If you suffer from catarrhal troubles, such as offensive breath, raising of mucus, frequent sneezing, hoarse voice, discharge from the nose, droppings across the upper part of the chest, you should begin to use Hyo-mei at once. It will destroy all disease germs in the nose, throat and lungs, and provide the blood with additional oxygen.

The complete Hyo-mei outfit with inhaler costs but $1.00. So strong is Rickert & Wells' faith in the power of Hyo-mei to cure all catarrhal troubles, that with every dollar outfit they give an iron-clad guarantee to refund the money unless the remedy gives satisfaction.

DEATH OF GROW

HASTENED BY BLACKMAIL

Former Speaker of The House Mulcted of Thousands by Band of Swindlers Using Woman as Agent.

New York, April 11.—Friends of the late Galusha A. Grow have been astounded to learn that his death is said to have been hastened by a band of swindlers who levied a blackmail upon him, using a woman as their willing tool.

To protect his name and reputation from assault which he feared would be taken seriously by a cynical world, he paid the swindlers, it is believed, many thousands of dollars—some estimate the total at more than $100,000.

It is known that a woman announced herself as the wife of Mr. Grow, and his friends fear she may now advance a claim upon the small estate left by him. It is said he is taking legal steps to that end, but if so, the relatives of Mr. Grow have received no official notice.

At the time of his retirement from Congress in 1902, Mr. Grow was moderately wealthy man for one of his quiet tastes, living in his own home in the country. He had practically nothing when he died in Glenwood on March 31, last. He was paying taxes on $30,000 personality outside of his household a few years ago, and his investments, including non-taxable securities, are known to have exceeded $100,000.

Yet, while there was every reason to suppose his estate should have increased it is alleged to have vanished.

BEARST AND BEYAN

William Randolph Hearst, the democratic candidate for governor last fall, has declined an invitation to attend the Jefferson dinner of the Brooklyn Democratic club, to be held on April 15, at which William J. Bryan is scheduled to speak. Mr. Hearst is himself to have a dinner at the Hotel Savoy next Saturday night, when the national democratic club is to celebrate Jefferson's birthday with a banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria.

The suspicion has been growing among democratic organization men that Mr. Hearst intends to organize a third national party, and among those who talked of the three dinners to-night it was declared that Mr. Hearst's attitude toward the dinner at which Mr. Bryan is to talk supported this idea. Mr. Hearst's party is "pivotal States," New York, Massachusetts, California and Illinois, and in these states he has developed an excellent machine. It is believed that if Mr. Hearst fails to get the regular democratic nomination he will run as the third candidate for the presidency.

I am not unnatural to expect that Hearst may make some announcement of his program in this direction at the Savoy hotel dinner. It is to be in his honor, and besides himself the speakers include Congressman Lamar of Florida and Supreme Court Justice Samuel Seabury and John Ford. Congressman Lamar has been classed as a Bryan democrat, but it is known that he is now more friendly to Hearst than to Bryan. —From New York Letter to the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

ROBERT AND THE PRESIDENT.

Secretary Root's retirement from the cabinet at an early date is declared to be probable, although no official confirmation of the statement is obtainable. It is known, however, that the relations between the president and his secretary of state are not so cordial as they were, and the reason ascribed is the president's activity in the fight for control of the next national convention.

Secretary Root, it is known, argued against participation by the president in this anti-convention campaign, and was especially earnest in urging the president to make no reply to the Harriman letter. His advice in both matters was rejected, and he is now credited with a determination to leave the cabinet, because he is not in sympathy either with the president's policies or the course he is now pursuing.

They were instructed to report at the next meeting, which is to be held next Monday evening. George T. Chaffee was named to confer with the Rutland officials in regard to transportation or horses for exhibition at the show. The entrance fee was fixed at $1 and the premium will consist of silver cups and ribbons.

for the past few years and it has finally proved beyond his mind to the extent that it is unbalanced. He lost his wife a year or two ago, but a baby which was born at the time of her death lived. Davy had another son and redoubled his efforts to support them. Soon after with working in the woods, he met with an accident, in which he suffered a badly broken leg, and was laid up for some time. Then he lost an eye in another accident, and this so affected the other one that he is now almost totally blind, crippled and unable to walk. SOUTH AFRICAN TEMPLES.

Great Areas That Are Enclosed By Solidly Built Walls.

The temple ruins at Rhodesia are puzzlers. The earthen walls built by the natives are said to say they were ancient, but Mr. Randall MacIver, their latest explorer, says they were built in the Middle Ages. He says the great "Elliptical temple" was the fortified residence of the great chief or Monomotapa, whose sway extended over an enormous area and an extensive population.

To understand how architectural feats like the fine Rhodesian buildings can have been achieved by the precursors of the modern South African natives it is necessary to assume that in those days there was organizations of a far higher character than has obtained in recent years, organization under great chiefs whose power and intelligence were of a relatively high order. From the Portuguese and their records this would appear to have been the case in the days of the Monomotapa empire of the Middle Ages down to the close of the sixteenth century.

The organization of labor implied by the elaborate and decorated stone architecture is remarkable. Even more remarkable than the fortified castles are the terraced walls. These stone built walls from irregular concentric rings around the hills upon which the villages were situated, and although structurally simple, cover an enormous area, enclosing in close formation over a space of upwards of fifty square miles. —Chicago Tribune.
